About

Amateur Dressage is beginning a new series of online videos featuring FEI-level riders and trainers, USDF-certified instructors and judges, sports psychology coaches, and equine health practitioners such as saddle fitters, massage therapists, veterinarians, and farriers.

Information for Professionals

The target audience for this video series is amateur dressage riders and enthusiasts who are always eager for quality educational content.

The program will provide significant publicity for horse professionals who are featured on the web site. Each professional will be provided a web page on the site with biographical and contact information. Pictures and links to the professional's own home page will also be included. The web page will be created by Amateur Dressage at no charge to the professional and he or she can determine what text and images are used on his/her page. If the professional wishes to have an @amateurdressage.com email address, one will be provided at no charge.

New video lessons will appear on the main page of Amateur Dressage for a full week and will then be located in the professional's library of video lessons.

For riders, trainers, and instructors

Videos will be shot, edited, and published online by Amateur Dressage. Professionals and their students in the videos will be provided a single VHS, CD, or DVD copy of the recordings free-of-charge. Videos can be of lessons or training rides and will range in length from 30 minutes to 60 minutes.

For equine health practitioners

Videos will be shot, edited, and published online by Amateur Dressage. Professionals will be provided a single VHS, CD, or DVD copy of the recordings free-of-charge. Videos can be of demonstrations, lectures, or other features appropriate to the topic of equine health and will range in length from 20 minutes to 60 minutes.

Amateur Dressage staff are experienced in producing online educational material and will be more than happy to help professionals plan and develop their video lessons for web delivery.
